2. Presentación

This course is intended to give the participants the theory, knowledge, and tools to design effective international marketing strategies. To this purpose, it discusses how world consumers think and behave, and how cultural values and social systems impacts their brand choices. The nature and mechanics of international sales organization and management are examined; emphasis is on practical implementation and the strategic role in international markets and expansion. The course provides a deep understanding of how international and trade organizations design their distribution and channel structure and the brick and mortar and digital channels strategies they implement. In this context, an evaluation of different forms of trade relationships such as strategic alliances, contractor and distribution agreements, franchises, manufacture agreements, and joint ventures are strategically evaluated.

The course methodology includes different pedagogical approaches such as case analysis and discussion, applied learning exercises, economic and financial impact evaluation, competitive simulations, as well as, in class discussions and lectures. The course emphasizes strategic, proactive thinking, and innovative and entrepreneurial focus all essential for conducting profitable marketing operations worldwide.

11. Observaciones y recomendaciones

The final grade for the course will be the average obtained from the partial evaluation of each of the parts that make up the course.

The mark corresponding to this evaluation instrument SE1 will be saved from a first call to a second call.

Therefore, in the second call, students will have the corresponding mark obtained in the first call.

The student who does not take the exam will be marked as "no-show" in the minutes (even if he/she has obtained a mark in the rest of the assessment instruments).

The mark corresponding to this evaluation instrument SE2, will be kept during the two academic calls of the course in force. The mark corresponding to this assessment instrument SE3 is recoverable.

The mark corresponding to this evaluation instrument SE3, will be kept during the two academic calls of the current academic year.

SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS. Students with disabilities or special educational needs may contact the Diversity and Volunteering Service (ADYV; <http://www.um.es/adyv/>) to receive guidance on how to make better use of their training process and, where appropriate, the adoption of measures for equalisation and improvement for inclusion. The treatment of information about these students is strictly confidential.

The following remarks are valid for the scenarios included in ENAE BUSINESS SCHOOL's Contingency Plan 4.
